COLD PACK CANNING FOR THE FARMERS

S. B. Cleland Assistant County Agent
Leader and County Agent Colquhoun to Visit Clubs

Demonstrations to be Given at Four Farmers
Clubs and Deerwood Starting Tuesday of Next Week

S. B. Cleland, assistant county agent leader will be in the county four days next week for the purpose of giving canning demonstrations in connection with the Farmers' club meetings. Demonstration will be given at the Mission Lake club on Tuesday, at the Nisawa Community club on Wednesday, at the Nokay Lake club on Thursday, at Deerwood Friday and at the Pelican Lake club on Saturday. It is possible that other demonstrations will be arranged for.

County Agent E. A. Colquhoun will accompany Mr. Cleland to the club meetings and assist in arranging for the demonstrations. The cold pack method for canning vegetables will be used.

The county agent has a supply of 150 bulletins on "Home Canning by the Cold Pack Method," and 150 on "Drying Fruits and Vegetables in the Home." These bulletins are for distribution and anyone wishing to secure them should drop a line or phone to the county agent. The bulletins were requested early in the summer, but has just been received. The delay was doubtless due to the unusual rush at Washington.

EXCESSIVE PROFITS WILL BE ABOLISHED

Washington, Aug. 9.—Definite assurance that the American public will be protected against profiteering and that the allied governments will get their war supplies at the same prices as the United States is contained in an announcement of the administration's war price policy.

The announcement was made by the war industries board, formed last week as a part of the Council of National Defense to have full charge of the government's war purchases.

It made clear the administration's determination that there shall be no exorbitant war profits and at the same time stated the government's intention to see that industry receives fair prices for its products.

Prices now charged for materials necessary to the industrial life of the nation are out of all proportion, the statement said, to the cost of production. "Unconscionable profits," it is declared, are made on national resources entering into the manufacture of articles consumed by the public. Already the administration is preparing for drastic action to reduce prices if negotiations with manufacturers fail to produce results.

TWENTY-THREE SHIPS SUNK

Slight Increase Noted in Week's Submarine Toll.

London, Aug. 9.—There was a slight increase in the loss of British merchant vessels by submarines or mines in the past week, according to the official summary issued.

Twenty-one British vessels of more than 1,600 tons and two vessels of less than 1,600 tons were sunk last week. Thirteen ships were attacked unsuccessfully. No fishing boats were lost.

Arrivals for the week numbered 2,673 and sailings 2,796.

The number of vessels of more than 1,600 tons sunk last week is an increase of three more than the number sunk in the previous week, when eighteen were lost through submarines or mines. There is a decrease of one in the vessels of less than 1,600 tons, three having been reported lost the previous week.

Further Steps Taken by the Government Increase Available

(By United Press)
Washington, August 9.—Further steps have been taken by the government to increase the number of men available for service and General Crowder has greatly modified the physical requirements. A reduction in weight of from 5 to 12 pounds according to height and several inches in chest measurement are allowed. The eye and ear tests also have been modified.

Indians Exempt from the Draft as Government Wards

(By United Press)
Washington, August 9.—Indians as government wards are exempt from the draft, this applying only to blanket Indians. "There is no question of their willingness to fight," says a government official, "but they have clung to their old ways and the blankets. They probably would not without highly specialized routine and system aid the fighting in France."

Basis of Charge Must be on Most Direct Route

(By United Press)
Washington, August 9.—The tentative order of the interstate commerce commission holds that the practice of railways and their connecting tap lines operating in lumber districts or participating in the arrangement for the movement of lumber from mills by circuitous routes and of collecting for this extra hauling is unlawful. The commission holds that any charge exceeding $2 or $3 for switching charges would be unlawful and that the charge for haulage must be on the basis of the most direct route.

Refuses to Supply Allies at the Government Prices

Washington, August 9.—The Bethlehem Steel Co. has refused to supply France with steel rails, it being understood that it is the determination of the steel companies not to furnish the allies with products at the government price.

GERMANY MAY TRY TO CRUSH SWITZERLAND

Washington, Aug. 9.—Germany may attempt to trample Switzerland under foot and swing her armies around the southern end of the Western front, unless the mountain republic yields to Teutonic demands.

That is the prospect experts see in the event of Switzerland's refusal of gold in exchange for Germany's coal supplies.

It would cause a readjustment of battle lines on the West front.

The fact that Switzerland is resisting the loan proposal came as a surprise here. Switzerland, composed of German, French and Austrian stock, is regarded pro-German and Germany several months ago used her as a go-between to make pseudo peace offers to the United States.

In the circumstances authorities are not entirely able to fathom the situation.

Incidentally there has been suggestion here that the United States would do well to swing her forces into the southern end of the Western front, flanking Switzerland. Such a move, experts hold, would tend to keep Switzerland in line, inasmuch as the influence of her sister republic would probably prevent her being too friendly with Germany.

VIEW OF THE VIENNA PRESS

China's War Move Blamed on the Entente in Austria-Hungary.

Amsterdam, Aug. 9.—Austria-Hungarian newspapers, according to a telegram from Vienna, view China's declaration of war as the work of the entente, especially President Wilson. It is aimed as a blow at German and Austro-Hungarian business interests in China and to oust two troublesome trade competitors by furnishing the Chinese with a pretext not to pay their debts, rescind railway and mining concessions granted to Austrians and Germans, confiscate Austro-German capital invested in the country, seize their ships and intern their subjects, the newspapers say.

Major Oscar Seebach, Red Wing, seen at Brainerd, said the strike on the Cuyuna iron range seemed to him to have been greatly exaggerated in newspaper stories. Some Finns were out and were trying to induce other countrymen to walk out. There was no disorder.

The major organized a Home Guard company of 78 at Crosby and Ironton. To Governor Burnquist he will recommend for officers E. M. Prindle as captain, C. M. Pearce, mining engineer, as first lieutenant and William Deering, lumber company manager, as second lieutenant. The mines reported with walkouts are the Merritt No. 1 Mangan 1 and 2 and the Hopkins.

RUSSIA IS GROWING STRONGER OF HEART

Washington, Aug. 9.—Russia grows stronger of heart and purpose daily and with aid from the United States will do her part in the great war and emerge a powerful state.

This was the message brought to President Wilson and Secretary Lansing by Elihu Root and his fellow members of the American mission sent to Russia three months ago.

Unqualified encouragement from the United States, moral and financial when necessary, is absolutely essential to keeping life in the new government, the commissioners agreed.

A separate peace with Germany obviously is the gravest fear.

Left to fight along with her present government in control, the president was told, Russia will emerge triumphant and strong, but if either by great masses of troops or clever propaganda Germany should accomplish the overthrow of the Kerensky government the outlook would be dark.

PRAISES LITTLE NATIONS

Lloyd George Says Britain Will Stand by Serbia.

London, Aug. 9.—Premier Lloyd George, speaking at the luncheon of the Serbian society of Great Britain in honor of N. P. Pachitch, the Serbian premier, said:

"The first condition of peace is restoration, complete and without reservation."

The premier added that he believed in little nations, saying:

"I believe in the nation which can sing about its defeats. Serbia has sung right through the centuries, not of victory, but of defeat that submerged her in the flood of barbarism."

"Serbia always has hoped, and now her day of reckoning comes. However long this may last Great Britain's honor is involved in seeing Serbia free."

"The troops of Serbia never have been disheartened. We will go through the war together to the end."

Butte, Mont., Aug. 9.—Intervention by federal troops in the mine strike situation here is forecast by an interchange of messages between the war department and those in command of troops here.

American Battleship in Smoke Screen to Hide from U-Boats

The ships of the Atlantic Fleet, which have been mobilized since the declaration of war, have begun to use the smoke screen, developed some months ago in England, to hide them from submarines. WAR PREPARATION A DIFFICULT TASK

Appropriations of Billions Impossible in Peace Time.

CRITICS HAVE OPPORTUNITY

Easy to Condemn the Administration, but Congress Would Never Have Authorized Conscription Until War Was Declared—Nor Would the People Have Approved Burdensome Taxes.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 9.—[Special.]—Critics of our present lack of preparation for war have a fine opportunity these days. It is easy to point out what might have been accomplished in a month or two if the necessary laws had been passed and money appropriated to purchase guns, munitions and supplies.

It is true there has been lack of preparation, but preparation for such a war as we have entered upon would have been impossible unless we had determined to establish a military system such as that of Germany.

Our congress never could have been brought to pass such huge military bills. Nor would the people have approved the taxation necessary to build up a great army.

Opposition of the President.

It is well to remember that at a time when there was a great clamor for military preparation, in fact, when the clamor was at its height, the president in an address to congress took a decidedly antagonistic ground and said the people who were behind the movement were "nervous and excited."

More than that, he said we were sufficiently prepared and that the people were misinformed; also he said that young men were not to be forced into the army.

Let us be just. It would have been absolutely impossible to prepare for this war.

If People Would Think.

If people would think for a moment just what would have been the verdict of the country a year ago if the president and congress had enacted a conscription law calling into forced service 500,000 young men, had provided for cantonments and training camps costing half a billion dollars and made vast appropriations to arm, equip and supply such an army. No administration could have survived such preparation.

Our people will meet emergencies when they arrive and pay heavily if they must, but they never would have sanctioned two or three billion dollars outlay in preparation in times of peace.

Intercoastal Waterway.

What seemed a visionary proposition to so many people for many years past is likely to become a reality under the pressure of a war necessity. It begins to look as if the United States were going to be committed to an intercoastal waterway, which has been the dream of a number of people for many years. It is going to be a very expensive proposition before it is completed, particularly if it is made deep enough for the big vessels of the navy. But once the project is under way it is likely to swallow up many million dollars until it is wholly completed.

This waterway has been denounced fiercely on the floor of both senate and house, called a real estate speculation deal, and up to the present time the proposition to purchase privately owned canal property has been defeated. The present river and harbor bill contained propositions looking to the acquisition of these properties, which means that ultimately the United States will be committed to an inland waterway notwithstanding we have the whole Atlantic ocean for water transportation.

The Persistence of Marcus Aurelius.
He writes: "Mark A. Aurelius: There are people who believe that away back yonder in Kentucky he was christened "Marcus Aurelius." Be that as it may, Mark A. or Marcus Aurelius has shown a persistency that might be expected from a man who fought for thirty years for the admission of Arizona as a state in order that he might become a United States senator.

Particular reference is made in this connection to the continuous fight that Senator Smith made for the passage of the migratory bird bill. This bill in connection with treaties made with Canada is intended to protect birds while in their flight from north to south. It has the backing of a great number of people throughout the country, but met with strong opposition in the senate, which Senator Smith finally overcame.

One of the War Straws.

The interest which was betrayed in Washington in the talk of peace which emanated from Germany and Austria showed that many people are not keen for war. It took considerable belaboring on the part of officials and war advocates to keep some people up to the fighting point and to prevent them from grasping at the straw which the central powers cast upon the waters.

Wise Men's Warning Ways.

The manner in which President Wilson brought congress to agree with his idea in the consideration of the food control bill shows that he has many winning ways. He is the powerful reminder of America. Roosevelt never came near him in the matter of convincing congress.

Our Salt Resources.
Among the states which possess vast salt resources in one form or another are Michigan, New York, Ohio, Utah and West Virginia, the first named claiming that it has enough salt to supply the whole world several hundred years. But most salt in its natural state is impure and some brines contain barium chloride, which makes it poisonous. The bureau of chemistry at Washington, after careful research, found that such salt can be deprived of its poisonous properties by adding a solution of sulphate of soda, and so large salt supplies of this character which have had a limited use are now made available for general commercial purposes.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take a glass of Salts if your Back Hurts or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach aches, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

BUYING OUR BONDS

Registered and Coupon Securities of the United States.

HOW THE TWO ISSUES DIFFER.

A Registered Bond Lost or Stolen Is Still Absolutely Safe For Its Legitimate Owner, While Losing a Coupon Bond Is Like Losing Money.

When an investor buys a United States bond he buys what is called either a registered or a coupon security. The "bought" capitalist is usually pictured as occupying much of his time in "cutting coupons," a task the very notion of which intrigues the imagination of the poor chap who writes about the doings of multimillionaires. And yet—though it be to destroy so well accepted a tradition—the fact is that the "predatory plute" rarely clips a coupon. He prefers registered bonds for the commonplace reason that they are safer.

The government issues, let us say, a bond bearing coupons. It is forwarded to John Smith, the purchaser, who signs a receipt for it. But suppose that Smith mislays or loses the bond or suppose that it is stolen from him, it is just as negotiable as a $500 note and he is that much money "out."

But if the bond is registered the case is quite different. Suppose that it is lost or stolen. The thief or the finder cannot sell it or collect the interest on it when interest is due. That bond is recorded in a book in the treasury department as the property of John Smith. To him alone can principal or interest be paid unless he transfers the bond to somebody else, in which case the transfer is recorded in the book.

Hence, obviously, it is much safer for any one who subscribes to a government loan to ask for registered bonds. He will then have a separate account kept for him at the treasury, in which every payment made to him will be set down. If his bonds are mislaid or lost he need only notify the treasury in order to be sure that nobody else shall collect the money to which he is entitled. The missing securities will be replaced when he has fulfilled certain formalities.

Interest checks for bonds are mailed quarterly. On being returned through the banks canceled they are not destroyed, but are carefully preserved in the treasury. So excellent is the system adopted that reference can be made to any such check in case of dispute as to payment, no matter how ancient its date, at a minute's notice. The signature of the payee on the back settles the question. All bonds issued since 1880 are likewise kept in storage. Heirs to estates in litigation sometimes wish to refer to them.

The patriotic person who decides to help Uncle Sam by lending him money may have the additional satisfaction of knowing that there is no security in the world so absolutely safe as our government bonds. Nothing short of the disruption of this great republic could cause them to lose even a fraction of their negotiable value. If you have such a bond you can convert it into cash offhand at any bank.

One can hardly conceive of a more comfortable form of wealth than United States registered bonds. You have your name down in the treasury books with, let us say, the magic figures $100,000 attached to it. Every quarter (if the interest is 3 per cent) you receive a check for $750. It is enough to live on, modestly. Hard times may bother other folks, but they do not disturb you. The H. C. of L. becomes to a great extent an academic proposition. Very rich people own the bulk of the registered bonds, which run up as high as $50,000 each. A piece of printed paper two feet long will represent that sum. It is a fortune which may be folded up and put away in your card case. You cannot possibly lose it. If anybody steals it Uncle Sam will replace it.

The paper used for bonds is of a special and distinctive kind, with two bands of red and blue fiber running through every sheet. It is almost all linen, but contains some cotton, so as not to be too hard. The linen rags used for "stock" are carefully selected, cleaned, boiled and pulped—even the water for the pulp being filtered to insure its purity.

Uncle Sam owes a lot of money to holders of bonds long ago called "bonds," that is to say, who through negligence or for other reasons have never asked for what was due them. Every now and then some of these old bonds turn up; likewise back number interest checks, which folks have a way of hoarding. People are constantly changing their addresses, and often it happens that track is lost for a while of an individual bondholder. Under such circumstances the interest checks are retained by the treasury, and in the course of time they pile up. They are kept for an indefinite period and, like the unpaid bonds, are good forever.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Letters of Introduction.

Letters of introduction should not be worded in too complimentary or highly flattering terms. As they are left unsealed and delivered in person it is embarrassing for the caller to deliver them. The letter should simply introduce the bearer, state that he is a friend and that any courtesy or entertainment shown him will be greatly appreciated.

PATRIOTIC POSTER

Women's Auxiliary of State Safety Commission Offers School Children Two Prizes

The Women's Auxiliary of the State Safety Commission offers a prize of $15 for the best Patriotic Poster made by a pupil in the public schools of Minnesota, and $5 for a second prize.

The successful posters and others that shall deserve honorable mention will be exhibited at the State Fair. The following are the conditions:

1. Only one poster shall be sent from each county, that one being chosen by Mrs. W. H. Gemmell, Brainerd, Minn., district chairman of the Woman's Auxiliary of the state of Minnesota, from among those submitted to her.

2. Posters shall not be over two feet by three feet in size. They may be in color or in black and white.

3. Posters should emphasize the idea of patriotism rather than war. They may represent Columbia, or Columbia welcoming many nations, or Columbia's resources, or any phase of patriotic ideals that the maker pleases.

4. The posters must be in the hands of Mrs. W. H. Gemmell on or before August 25th, 1917.

BUILDING A LIFE.

An element of weakness in much of our resolving is that we try to grasp too much of life at one time. We think of it as a whole, instead of taking the days one by one. Life is a mosaic, and each tiny piece must be cut and set with skill.

W. C. T. U. HAVE MEETING TUESDAY

Plans are Made to do a Greater Work for Soldiers and Sailors This Year Than Ever Before

MONEY FOR AN AMBULANCE

Officers are Elected, Mrs. A. E. Thayer Heading the Local Organization

(Communicated)

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union held their regular business meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. parlor. Plans were made to do a greater work for the soldiers and sailors this year, although it has always been one of their many departments of work and much is done for them every year.

Money was voted to help buy an ambulance to send to the front in France, which will float our white ribbon emblem beside our stars and stripes. We believe that such an ambulance with its blessed ministries to the wounded and suffering will emphasize in a peculiar way the mother love of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Money was also voted for state work, state dues, etc.

Then came the election of officers and appointment of superintendents of departments, which resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. A. E. Thayer. Vice President—Mrs. A. Angel.

Secretary—Mrs. Alice D. White. Treasurer—Miss Helga Olson.

SUPERINTENDENTS. Woodmen, Soldiers and Sailors—Mrs. A. Angel.

Prison Reform—Mrs. Alice White. Sunday Schools—Mrs. Julia Stillings.

Sabbath Observance—Mrs. Silas Hall. Medal Contests—Mrs. A. E. Thayer.

Flower Missions and Relief Work—Mrs. Peter Walters.

Union Signal and Young Crusader—Miss Helga Olson.

Mothers Meetings—Mrs. Rosa B. Stanton.

Polo is Ancient.

Polo was played from the backs of horses in Persia during the tenth and eleventh centuries. At that time the Persians in a great contest, Iran versus Turan, found their match in the Turks, greatly to the disgust of King Afrasiab. The Byzantine poet Nizami sang of polo in the twelfth century. Then polo spread from Persia into central Asia, India and Tibet in the sixteenth century, when the great Emperor Akbar patronized it. In Japan the game is at least 1,000 years old and is still popular under the name of da-kin.

Big Scheme!

Any one who has handled a baby carriage knows how hard it is to get it up and down the porch steps alone without jarring and jolting. A very simple device is proving a saving both to the carriage and to the mother in one suburban home. Two boards about three or four inches wide were nailed to the steps securely, exactly as far apart as the wheels of the carriage. They were cut to fit the top of the step and the walk smoothly. Down this track the heavy carriage with baby in it rolls as easily as on the sidewalk. The boards are painted to match the step and are not at all unsightly.

Chances For Success.

I have many times been asked if, in my opinion, the young man of today had as good chance to make his mark in the business world as did his elders. My answer is, "Never since our pilgrim fathers landed on the shores of Plymouth were the opportunities for the young man's success greater than they are today. It is for him to determine whether he will be a success or not."—Stephen A. Knight.

Truly there were giants in colonial days. One Daniel Leake of Salisbury, N. H., made during his lifetime and was paid for 1,000,000 shingles. During the years he was accomplishing this colossal work he cleared 300 acres of land, tapped for twenty years at least 600 maple trees, making sometimes 4,000 pounds of sugar a year. He could mow six acres a day, giving nine tons of hay. His strong, long arms cut a swath twelve feet wide. In his spare time he worked as a cooper, and he was a famous drum maker.

SOCIALIST UNDER ARREST

Minnesota State Secretary Accused of Anti-War Plot.

St. Paul, Aug. 9.—A. L. Sugerman, secretary of the state Socialist committee and one of the leaders of the Socialist party in St. Paul, was arrested by T. E. Campbell, special agent of the department of justice, on a charge of attempting to cause "insubordination, disloyalty and refusal of duty in the military forces of the United States."

It is alleged that on July 24 at Kelsey, near Arlington, in Sibley county, he urged young men, called by draft to appear for examination, to refuse to report to the exemption boards.

He was arraigned before Samuel Whaley, United States commissioner, and J. A. Dickey, United States attorney, and pleaded not guilty.

CHARGE IS BEING PROBED

Said Large Sums of Money Are Going to Germany.

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—Federal agents are investigating reports that thousands of dollars is being sent monthly from Cleveland to Germany through the neutral Swiss government.

Investigation, it is said, has revealed that scores of Germans and persons of German extraction are sending funds to Germany, ostensibly to relatives.

GRAIN PRICES GUARANTEED

English Farmers Will Get Fixed Figures After War.

London, Aug. 9.—Farmers will be paid a fixed price for cereals for several years after the war, according to the provisions of the corn product bill which passed the house of commons.

Its advocates hope it will encourage the growing of wheat that tonnage can be released to bring from America the cotton supply required by Great Britain.

SENATE ACTS ON TWO FOOD BILLS

Measures Will Soon Be in President's Hands.

FIRST PROVIDES FOR SURVEY

In Addition to Comprehensive Provisions for Control of Food, Fuel, Fertilizer and Farm Equipment the Second Measure Carries Drastic Prohibition Features.

Washington, Aug. 9.—The food bill passed through the last stage of legislative enactment when it was finally adopted by the senate in the form previously approved by the house. The vote was 66 to 7.

Those voting against the conference report were: Democrats—Harwick, Hollis and Reed, Republicans—France, Gronna, La Follette and Penrose.

Immediately after the final vote the senate by a viva voce vote also approved the conference report on the first administration food bill, providing for a food survey and appropriating funds to stimulate production.

Both bills will become laws Friday with President Wilson's approval.

Hoover Will Be Director.

Prompt appointment of Herbert C. Hoover as food administrator and immediate operation under the legislation is expected to follow.

In addition to its comprehensive provisions for control of food, fuel, fertilizer and farm equipment the control bill carries drastic prohibition features.

Thirty days after it is approved it will be unlawful to use foodstuffs in the manufacture of distilled beverages or to import distilled spirits for beverage purposes and the president will be empowered to commandeer for military purposes distilled liquors now held in bond and to regulate or restrict the use of foods in the manufacture of wine and beer.

The senate's action virtually concludes work of congress on the administration food legislative program initiated last May.

ACCUSED OF MISCONDUCT

Bar Association May Expel New Ulm (Minn.) Lawyer.

Minneapolis, Aug. 9.—Recommendations that the ethics committee of the Minnesota State Bar association investigate the conduct of Albert Pfander, who participated in an anti-draft meeting at New Ulm recently, were adopted by the lawyers in annual convention.

Charges of gross misconduct were placed against Pfander and if they are found to be true he probably will be expelled from the association and barred from practice in the state.

Ivan Bowen, an attorney of New Ulm, introduced the resolution for the purpose, he said, of clearing the name of Brown county of the stain which recent events has cast on it.

The resolution was passed amid loud cheering with only one vote against it, that of S. H. Child, who served in the same legislature with Pfander.

SAYS HE WILL NOT FIGHT

North Dakotan Has Strong Conscientious Objections.

Bismarck, N. D., Aug. 9.—"You can come and take me and put me in prison or kill me, but they cannot make me fight. God's against war and it is not right."

So said Richard Francis Anderson of Wilton, Burleigh county, first conscientious objector, after he had passed a perfect physical examination. Anderson, a strapping six-footer, declared that he belonged to no religious denomination which is opposed to war. He is just against it individually and personally and he calmly assured the exemption board there are not enough men in the United States to make him fight.

SEES CHANCE FOR RUSSIA

Jules Cambon Believes Kerensky Ministry Will Succeed.

Paris, Aug. 9.—Recent events in Russia and the German ministerial changes were commented on by Jules Cambon, general secretary to the ministry of foreign affairs, in an interview.

M. Cambon expressed sanguine hope for the success of the new Kerensky ministry. He said that Premier Kerensky appears to be invested with a kind of dictatorship which the allies hope he will exercise to the limit of his powers and his decision to reconstitute the war committee according to the model already existing among the allies augurs well.

AMERICA MAY BUILD HUGE BOMB PLANES

Washington, Aug. 9.—Plans for the manufacture in this country of powerful bombing airplanes, to be used by the American flying corps, were discussed at a conference between W. H. Workman, British aero expert, and members of the aircraft production board.

The British airplanes are declared capable of a flight across the Atlantic. One machine of the type which it is proposed to manufacture has made a flight from London to Rome.

One of the Page machines of the type which it is proposed to manufacture, Mr. Workman told the aircraft board, had a record of having carried twenty-two men at an altitude of 7,180 feet. These machines were used in the British raids on Ostend, Zeebrugge and Bruges, Belgium.

The aircraft board is considering the question of arranging for the manufacture of this bombing machine in connection with the plan to coordinate the American aircraft program with those of Great Britain, France and Italy.

Was Willing to Go to Sea.

At the time when William E. Chandler of New Hampshire was secretary of the navy Admiral Meade was commandant of the navy yard in Washington. They got into trouble somehow, these two positive gentlemen, and the commandant was summoned before the secretary one day on a matter of importance. The secretary told the commandant that if he kept on, or words to that effect, he should certainly be obliged to punish him by sending him to sea. "Mr. Secretary," said Meade, "I haven't anything to say except that when it is punishment for an officer of the navy to be ordered to sea what is your service coming to? I should like to go to sea, sir. Good day."

HOUSTON MAKES PLANS PUBLIC

Wants Billion Bushels of Wheat Produced in 1918.

URGES INCREASED ACREAGE

Secretary of Agriculture Asserts More Grain Will Be Absolutely Essential to Prevent Serious Shortage in Breadstuffs Next Summer.

Washington, Aug. 9.—More than 1,600,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1918! The immediate war agricultural program for the United States was made public by David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, and includes the planting of 47,337,000 acres of winter wheat and 5,131,000 acres of rye.

Such a winter wheat acreage would be an increase of 18 per cent more than last year and would yield 672,000,000 if the average harvest of the past ten years is equaled. Repetition of the conditions of 1914 would increase the figure to 880,000,000 bushels.

"In either case," the secretary's notice says, "with a spring wheat crop next year equal to that of 1915 the nation will have more than 1,000,000,000 bushels of wheat for domestic use and export."

The gigantic program calls for distribution of the increased acreages over nearly every winter wheat raising state. It was worked out by the federal department, state agricultural officials and state defense councils.

"This vastly increased production of wheat," the bulletin says, "needed in any case, will be absolutely essential to prevent a serious shortage in breadstuffs next summer should the growing corn, now behind the season, be much damaged by early frosts."

Oldest Candy In World Is Licorice.

Most of the black licorice comes from Spain, where it is made from the juice of the plant and mixed with starch to prevent it from melting in hot weather. The licorice plant is a shrub about three feet high and grows wild where its roots can reach the water. It grows largely on the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers.

As the valley of the Euphrates contained one of the earliest civilizations in the world, it is probable that licorice is about the oldest confection in the world and that the taste which boys and girls like so well today was enjoyed by the boys and girls of Babylon and Nineveh 3,000 years ago.—New York Mail.

Mother Why Don't You Take Nuxated Iron

And be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable All The Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?—The Doctor Gave Some to Susie Smith's Mother and She Was Worse Off Than You are and Now She Looks Just Fine

NUXATED IRON WILL INCREASE THE STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE OF WEAK, NERVOUS, CAREWORN, HAGGARD LOOKING WOMEN 100 PER CENT IN TWO WEEK'S TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

THE CHILD'S APPEAL

"There can be no Beautiful, Healthy Rosy Cheeked women without Iron."

F. KING, M. D.

"There can be no healthy, beautiful, rosy cheeked women without Iron," says Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical author. "In my recent talks to physicians on the grave and serious consequences of iron deficiency in the blood of American women, I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—nuxated iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard looking women patients. Pallor means anemia. The skin of the anemic woman is pale, the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, the brain fags and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks."

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, a degerminated cornmeal no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked are responsible for another grave iron loss."

"Therefore, if you wish to preserve your youthful vim and vigor to a ripe old age, you must supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food is not enough salt."

"As I have said a hundred times over, organic iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease, preventing it becoming organic in thousands of cases and thereby the lives of thousands."

ands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, kidney, liver, heart trouble and other dangerous maladies. The real and true cause which started their disease was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood.

On account of the peculiar nature of woman, and the great drain placed upon her system at certain periods, she requires iron much more than man to help make up for the loss. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while double their strength and endurance and entirely rid themselves of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles, in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate, or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. The iron demanded by Mother Nature for the red coloring matter in the blood of her children, is a special kind of iron. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe aggravated conditions with unflinching results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial all of whom have given me most surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine or secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose iron constituents are widely prescribed by eminent physicians both in Europe and America. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion as well as for nervous run down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in nuxated iron, that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron, and increase their strength 100 per cent or over in four weeks time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by H. P. Dunn and all good druggists.

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, tells physicians that they should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their patients—Says anaemia—iron deficiency—is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American Woman.—Sounds warning against use of metallic iron which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach and do far more harm than good; advises use of only nuxated iron.

NAVY WILL BUILD AIRCRAFT

Plant Costing $1,000,000 to Be Constructed.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Construction of an aircraft factory at the League Island navy yard, Philadelphia, to cost approximately $1,000,000 and to be completed in 180 days, was ordered by Secretary Daniels. The plant will employ 2,000 workers and will be capable of producing 1,000 small planes yearly.

The navy's air program is a separate undertaking from the great $510,000,000 aircraft act. A large sum for naval aircraft production is understood to be still available from recent appropriations and Secretary Daniels has asked congress for additional funds for the purpose.

BILICAN BACK TO DESK AGAIN

Wilfred Canan, Local Cartoonist, Lands Position on Courier-Herald of Fargo, N. D.

HIS STYLE LIKE McCUTCHEON

Has a Dry, Happy Humor and Showed His Mettle in Cartoons in Local Papers

Wilfred Canan, well known by his name de plume of "Billican," a local cartoonist of considerable ability who for a time had the front page of the Daily Journal Press of Brainerd, has accepted a position with the Courier-Herald of Fargo and leaves for that city tonight.

Canan has originality and is an expert in line drawing, following the style of McCutcheon. He shows a dry humor in his treatment of things as befits a man who comes from Indian territory country at Brainerd. Canan gained his art education by hard work and his friends are sure he will make good with his pencil.

BARBER GETS A GOOD JOB

When Pete Cardie, local barber, was appointed game warden, he walked to the Mississippi bridge and dumped his barber tools into the river.

That was duplicated today when Walter A. Northrup, successfully passing a civil service examination, was notified he had been given a $1200 clerkship with the federal trade commission at Washington.

This morning he got the telegram. "Splash," went the razors into the Mississippi and on the afternoon train Northrup hied away to Washington. Fellow barbers of Brainerd are getting proud of the way the craft is coming to the front these days.

MUNICIPAL COURT

Officer B. E. Koecher Enforcing Dog License Law, to Date 438 Licenses Taken Out

Municipal court was a lively scene Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning.

In the afternoon Herman Weldman was up in court charged by Sanitary Police Officer B. E. Koecher with keeping an unlicensed dog. Mr. Weldman fought the case and his attorney was Judge J. H. Warner. The court, Judge Walter F. Wieland, decided there was a dog needing a license and pronounced sentence of $5 fine. A stay of 24 hours was secured. To date B. E. Koecher has brought the dog license record up to 438.

On complaint of the board of health P. B. Nettleton was charged with not keeping his backyard clean. A trial was demanded and the case set for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock when the whole matter will be threshed out.

Thursday morning Mrs. Mary Heath, charged with disorderly conduct and using unseemly language had her hearing in court. Court imposed a sentence of $20 fine or 20 days and she secured a stay of 24 hours. Her attorney was Hilding A. Swanson.

Mrs. Arthur Evans

Mrs. Arthur Evans died suddenly at her home in this city on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock from diabetes. Mr. and Mrs. Evans went to Rochester some days ago where she underwent a surgical examination as to her condition and was returning to her home, no operation having been performed. They arrived at St. Paul on Tuesday afternoon and Mrs. Evans' condition became alarming she becoming unconscious at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and did not recover consciousness. She was brought home on the train occupying a cot and arriving Wednesday afternoon, death occurring at 8 o'clock last night.

Mrs. Evans leaves besides her husband, four children, two boys, four years old, and a son and daughter, John and Irene, her father Carl Jacobs of Sargent, Minn., and who was in the city visiting at the time, and two sisters who live in Iowa. Emory Morrison, a cousin of Mr. Evans, was in the city.

Funeral arrangements have not been made and will be announced when relatives have been communicated with.

NOTICE TO SPRING WATER CONSUMERS

After careful consideration of the Spring Water rates have decided to continue at the old rates of a $1.00 per month hoping this meets with the approval of my patrons.

ROBERT PETERSON

GUS H. BEAULIEU DIED SUDDENLY

Gus H. Beaulieu, age 65, who represented the Chippewas for years at Washington, D. C., heading many of their delegations and who was editor of "The Tomahawk" published at White Earth, died of apoplexy two miles from the spot where he was born near Crow Wing as he, his wife and son Chester, were going to Bass lake to fish. Dr. R. A. Beise and Coroner C. A. Nelson were summoned and pronounced it apoplexy.

Mr. Beaulieu was widely known in the Northwest. For nineteen years he was in the United States marshal's office, serving under Denny, Campbell and Donahower. In 1893 he protected Great Northern railway property at St. Cloud and quieted the trouble there.

Twenty years ago he and Father Aloysius quieted the uprising at Sugar Point near Walker which started when Chief Bug came home discontented from service at court at Duluth. The old Indian had not been allowed his fare home and was compelled to walk the whole stretch of trail and arrived at the reservation nearly starved. In the trouble ensuing later Major Wilkinson and six soldiers were shot.

Mr. Beaulieu worked unceasingly for the benefit of the Chippewas. For ten years he had edited "The Tomahawk" at White Earth. One of his latest activities was the proposed establishment of a kinikinic cigarette factory at Barrows, very near to where his childhood home had been, which was to employ many Indians.

He belonged to the Catholic church and the funeral will be held from that church at White Earth. The body will be sent home Friday accompanied by his son Chester.

Brothers of the deceased are Rev. C. H. Beaulieu of LeSueur, Theodore B. and R. G. Beaulieu of White Earth. A sister, Julia, lives at White Earth.

His property interests include a farm near Crow Wing, hotel at White Earth and other interests. He was a democrat in politics. Of a whole souled, genial, hearty nature, he made many friends who extend to the bereaved family their deepest sympathy. The remains can be viewed at the D. M. Clark undertaking rooms until 11:30 o'clock Friday morning.

ROLL OF HONOR

Ralph M. Sleeper, one of Brainerd's first young men to enlist on April 9 in the navy, left today for the Great Lakes after spending some days home, visiting with his mother who has not been in the best of health. Ralph is now in ship's company and says the navy is great and the U. S. surely provides well for her men.

At the Best Tonight

The flower-bedecked chapel was crowded to the doors with the fashionable society guests. At the altar, banked with ferns and palms with garlands of roses entwined about the rail, stood the old minister. Each stately mahogany pew was beautified by a cluster of wisteria and garlands of roses hung from pillar to pillar. Through the stained glass windows of the chancel shone the dying rays of the day's sun.

Suddenly the organ pealed forth the wedding-march and the bridal party entered the sacred portals of the church. The bride, beautiful in a white satin gown with a silk tulle overskirt and carrying a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley made a beautiful picture, orange blossoms peeping out of her chestnut locks here and there. Before her scattering rose petals in her path were four dainty little flower girls in flesh color, while her attendants consisted of four bridesmaids in orchid and a maid of honor in yellow.

All society stretched forward anxiously as the beautiful bride released her hold on her old friend's arm and took her place beside the man of her choice.

Kneeling on the pink satin cushion under the minister's benediction the couple clasped hands and the congregation was awed in reverent silence as they were pronounced man and wife.

Then the bride, who was no less a personage than the dainty star, Anita Stewart, and groom, Charles Richman, arose and marched down the aisle once more to the waiting honeymoon outfit.

But fear not, movie fans—it was only a movie wedding which was filmed for the society drama, "The More Excellent Way," in which Miss Stewart is starred with Mr. Richman as leading man, and which is the attraction at the Best theatre tonight.

UNIVERSITY IN REGARD TO WAR

E. B. Pierce, Registrar of the University of Minnesota, Makes Formal Statement

COLLEGE SESSIONS CONTINUE

Ranks of the Universities Must be Kept Filled, University Opens October 10th

The Dispatch is glad to give publicity to this statement of the University of Minnesota in regard to college attendance during the war:

To Former Students and New Matriculants:

The University of Minnesota will open Wednesday, October 10. In reply to the questions that have been asked with regard to the university's program in view of the war situation, and relative to the uncertainty of students concerning their highest duty in this time of stress, it seems pertinent to make the following statements:

The Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior of the federal government says:

"We believe that all young men below the age of liability to the selective draft and those not recommended for special service, who can avail themselves of the opportunities offered by our colleges, should be urged so to do in order that they may be able to render the most effective service both during the full period of the war and the trying times which will follow its close."

President Wilson, in his telegram to the president of one of our state universities, says:

"I see no necessity whatever for suspending the sessions of the colleges and universities and think such a suspension would be very much against the public interest."

Colleges and universities are organized primarily to train men and women for leadership in the various activities of life and in the affairs of the nation. It is a well-known fact that college men everywhere in large numbers have been among the first to offer themselves for service in army, navy and reserve officers' training camps.

The ranks of the universities must be kept filled in order that the nation's need may be met now and at the close of the war when the need will be greatest. The period of reconstruction will make severe demands upon all educated and thoroughly-trained men and women.

Students are advised to consider seriously where their highest duty lies and to make their decision only after estimating carefully their immediate capabilities and the ultimate needs of the nation.

E. B. PIERCE, Registrar.

APPEAL IS TAKEN

Henry B. Hovland Objects to Paying $20,750 Verdict in Power Court to D. L. Fairchild

An appeal has now been taken to the state supreme court by Henry B. Hovland, who was recently ordered to pay David L. Fairchild $20,750 and interest following a disagreement over the ownership of mining stock in a corporation of which they were both directors, says the Duluth Herald.

Mr. Fairchild is well known in Brainerd where he has large interests. He has a summer home on Quil lake.

At Park Opera House Aug. 26

The Broadway Amusement Co. will present Gene Stratton-Porter's "Freckles" at the Park opera house Aug. 26th, 1917.

There has been nothing produced in the history of the American stage just like "Freckles." It is distinctive and original, but of such absorbing interest that it is not difficult to understand why the millions of fiction readers have delighted in the story, nor why the song play has become so popular with all classes of theatre goers.

In his dramatization, Neil Twomey has kept faithfully to the text of Mrs. Porter's story; every character has been brought out in bold relief in the play, and where the picture was in the mind's eye of the reader, it is now in the actual line of vision.

The great Limberlost scene, in which Freckles has taken hold on life is realistically shown. It is a beautiful stage picture with the thickness of the swamp forming a dark massive background, below, while above, tower gigantic trees.

The coming of "Freckles" will be a theatrical event just as it was an event in fiction; the song play is now as great a success as is the story and is playing to immense crowds everywhere.

The music for the play and the songs rendered by Freckles and the various characters are by the Viennese composer, Anatol Friedland, it is said to be a novelty from a musical point of view and the songs among the most beautiful heard in a long time.

DISPATCH WANT ADS PAY

CARNIVALS ARE DEFENDED

Al Fisher, Advance Man of the Clifton-Kelly Shows, Puts in a Good Word for Them

LEAVE MONEY IN THE TOWN

Much Spent in Advertising, Show Feeds Over 200 People and Purchases Supplies Here

As it has so often been said that carnivals take so much money out of cities that they visit, Al Fisher, agent of the Clifton-Kelly shows which will be in Brainerd next week, comes to the front with a strong denial. He says:

"Does it take all the money out of town that is claimed? Let's figure a little. The carnival, like the Clifton-Kelly shows, advertises the country for miles around, uses the local livery stables for teams and usually pays double than the local residents. The newspapers carry columns of advertising that costs real money. The shows feed over 200 people and purchase the supplies in every city. The performers stay in hotels where the rates jump 100 per cent when a carnival comes. Rent of lot and the license are not donated, so must be paid for. The animals require hay, grain and bedding and as everybody connected with the show is human and have their necessities to get, it all goes into the coffers of the local merchants."

The press agent then says: "Now, why did the company spend hundreds of dollars in advertising the surrounding country? Surely not entirely for the pleasure of decorating the barn doors, the blacksmith shop, large boulders and fences with paper that costs plenty these times, but to draw people to town, and once drawn to town, the most competent authorities have figured it out that for every dollar spent with the carnival they spend six dollars and a half with the local merchants, hotels and restaurants. The Clifton-Kelly shows pay their employees weekly which means that thousands of dollars are turned loose in every city visited and it is one of the certainties that any reasonable up-to-date store will get a large percentage of it.

"Then why cry 'the carnival takes all the money out of town?'"

INFANTRY CLASH ON SMALL SCALE

Heavy Guns Boom Incessantly in Flanders.

BRITISH RAID GERMAN LINES

Russian Troops Assume Offensive on Galician Border, Northeast of Czernowitz, and Successfully Withstand Austro-German Thrusts in the Region of Brody.

London, Aug. 9.—Flanders, where the big guns have been booming incessantly since rain stopped the entente offensive last week, again has been the scene of infantry fighting, but only on a small scale.

Near the coast the British have raided successfully German lines near Lembertzyde.

Berlin describes this operation as an attack in force which, it says, the Germans beat off in hand to hand fighting. The Teutons also record the repulse of local British attacks in the Bixchoote region between Dixmude and Ypres.

Along the Aisne front and on the right bank of the Meuse, northeast of Verdun, violent artillery activity continues on both sides. The German crown prince has not followed up his attack on the Aisne front, where he was repulsed east of Vauxhallion and west of the Californie plateau.

Russian troops are on the offensive in the Chotin region on the Russo-Galician border, northeast of Czernowitz, and have withstood successfully Austro-German thrusts in the region of Brody, in Galicia northeast of Lemberg.

The Russian forward movement west of Chotin resulted in the capture of two villages and a height. The Austro-Germans lost 300 prisoners and four machine guns.

BOMBS FROM AIRPLANES.

Simple Device That Aids in Dropping the Missiles Accurately.

At the numerous aerial bombing schools pilots and observers are taught how to drop bombs accurately on stationary and moving objects on the ground and on captive balloons. Bombs of all classes are used, from the eight pound high explosive bomb to the 200 pound bomb as well as the phosphorus and recombinate bombs.

The instrument that is used in directing the placing of a bomb on the object aimed at is a simple device and is provided with several adjustments that can be made almost instantly. One of these gives the speed at which the machine is traveling, another is an ordinary water level, and both in conjunction with two mirrors which show the pilot the ground below serve to aim the bomb. The wind has to be seriously considered when dropping bombs, and most bombs are dropped up wind.

Bomb dropping is a most important branch of the air service, and pilots have been known to drop bombs on enemy trains and transports from fairly good heights and also on the vital parts of bridges and on depots and railway junctions, munition plants, aerodromes and submarine bases.—Scientific American.

The Sea Horse.

This fish is found in the Atlantic ocean around the coast of Spain, the south of France, in the Mediterranean and in the Indian ocean. Sea horses are very small and have been found often curled up in oyster shells. The head is much like that of a horse, and the rings around the body and tail resemble those of some caterpillars. The habits of these fishes are singular and interesting. They swim with a waveling motion and frequently wind their tails around the weeds and rushes. They have fins to sustain them in the water and even in the air. They live on worms, fishes, eggs and substances found in the bottom of the sea.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

Are there any preparations which you would recommend for mixing with gasoline that will eliminate carbon without danger to the motor?

There are patented preparations on the market for mixing with gasoline which are stated not only to remove carbon, but to increase the mileage. The danger of securing materials which will have a deleterious effect on the cylinder walls is so great that the nature of these preparations should be carefully scrutinized before they are used. A method of removing carbon by kerosene, which has been tried out with good results, is to start the motor and then with the kerosene in a cup or some other small vessel the quantity is poured into the air intake as the motor is running. While this is being done the throttle is opened wider to prevent the motor from stalling, as it will begin to splutter as soon as the kerosene begins to enter the manifold.

The work should be done somewhere where it does not make much difference if the motor should smoke, as the introduction of kerosene will cause large volumes of smoke to pour from the exhaust. It is also a good idea in doing this work to open the muffler cut out so as to prevent soot from filling the muffler.

What is the proper way to clean a spark plug?

Most people believe they have cleaned a spark plug properly when they have cleaned the spark gap points. The proper way is to remove the porcelain or insulator and clean it thoroughly. The carbon deposit on the porcelain frequently permits a short circuit between the center rod and the engine metal.

Will you please tell me the difference between a high and low tension magneto?

The word tension refers to the voltage or pressure of the current produced. A low tension magneto is equipped with only a primary winding on the armature and produces a low voltage current. A high tension magneto has a primary and secondary winding wound on the armature and produces a high voltage secondary current.

A low tension magneto is often used in a car equipped with jump spark ignition by employing a high tension coil as a transformer, generally located on the dashboard, but in some cases placed in the magneto under the magnets directly over the armature.

I am having some trouble caused by the motor of my car missing fire. It runs all right with a retarded spark, but as soon as I advance it the motor will start to skip fire and backfire through the muffler. There also seems to be a loss of power. What causes this?

There are three possible conditions which will cause your engine to run well with retarded spark and poorly with advanced spark—namely, the armature shaft may be too far advanced; the wire leading from the coil box to the interrupter may have a frayed end which comes into contact with the metal of the magneto upon advancing the spark, or the interrupter points are wrongly adjusted.

In order to see whether the armature is timed correctly simply retard the spark lever and get the piston of No. 1 cylinder on the firing point. Now look at the interrupter points. If they are already separated the spark is too far advanced, but if it is necessary to turn the engine slightly in order to make them separate it is timed correctly. The interrupter points of the magneto used on your car should separate a thirty-second of an inch on advance and retard setting. They can be adjusted by turning the screw on the insulated side of the interrupter.

I have trouble with the treads loosening and peeling off my tires. I seldom have a blowout except on a tire which has lost its tread and then wears through the canvas. Why should this cause so much trouble?

You must be using a make of tire which possesses the weak point of faulty tread application, but it may also be that you do not take care of your tires in such a way as to avoid tread separation. Unless you promptly repair all cuts which extend through the tread rubber there is a tendency for road dirt to work in under the tread and gradually unseat it. If there are many such unhealed cuts the loosened portions will meet and the tread will be loose over large areas and finally will break away and expose the canvass. These tread cuts should either be vulcanized or repaired with cement and plastic rubber as soon as they occur.

Be sure also that your wheels are not out of alignment, because if they are that is probably the cause of your trouble.

There is an occasional knock in the engine of my car, which is apparent when going up grade. Have had the carbon cleaned out, plugs inspected and the carburetor cleaned. Is the trouble likely to be in the magnets, which are new?

Check up the commutator setting. If this is too far advanced it will give you a spark knock, particularly on a grade. The magnets, spark plugs and coils would not cause a knock. Incorrect carburetor setting could cause a gas knock. Try a slightly richer setting.

I have a six cylinder car, and when I run about twenty miles per hour a grunting sound is noticeable, which sounds like dry cogwheels, but both the differential and transmission are full of grease. Is the grease too thin, thereby not having enough body to keep the gears from sounding? There is also a popping sound in the engine. What is that?

The growling sound is probably due to the large differential gear and its phinon not being set up properly. The gears may be set so that the teeth "bottom" or the phinon may be too far forward or back. Resetting should only be done by an expert in this kind of work.

You can use quite a heavy grease provided it will run when the car is tilted and also stick to metal. It will find its way to the rear wheel bearings as well as the lighter grease.

The popping sound is undoubtedly due to your carburetor being adjusted so that it does not give a rich enough mixture. If it happens only while the engine is cold you should not worry about it.

When I quickly close the throttle of my engine preparatory to coasting why does the engine often begin a series of small explosions or popping, and how can this be prevented?

This phenomena is what is known as muffler explosion. It is caused by the admission of raw gas into the red-hot muffler. In shutting off the throttle and coasting suddenly with the motor running at high speed a very rich vapor which is not ignited in the cylinder, owing to lack of sufficient air, is drawn past the throttle. This fresh gas is projected into the hot exhaust manifold and muffler, which are usually lined with red-hot carbon, and is violently exploded. This can be prevented by a little care in handling the throttle. Muffler explosions are caused by cutting out the spark with the throttle open. This lets a fresh charge into the hot muffler and results in similar explosions. Both are preventable with proper handling of the controls.

Are oil holes in the piston an advantage or disadvantage?

As to the drilling of oil holes in pistons authorities disagree. For high speed work there is undoubtedly some advantage in including them in the piston design since they furnish additional lubrication to the outer piston face and the cylinder wall. Every precaution must be taken to guard against piston seizure, which is made more possible through the continued high speed and consequent heating to which the piston and cylinder are subjected in the racing car. The argument might be advanced that the use of such oil holes when placed in the upper part of the piston affords a means of escape for the gases and hence the loss of compression. Experienced drivers seem to favor the use of oil holes, however.

Why is it that when an automobile appears to be running perfectly and the driver stops the car—say, for five minutes—then starts to crank the motor again, the flywheel will make a dozen quick revolutions and stop, and after repeating the operation half a dozen times the motor will run as though nothing had happened?

This is probably due to a grain of sand or other foreign substance which temporarily stops up the needle valve.

Opening the throttle suddenly or changing from low to high gear, there is a peculiar knock or rattle in the engine of my car, no matter whether it is cold or not, or whether the spark is advanced or retarded. What causes this?

If your engine knocks with a retarded spark when cool on manipulating the throttle or climbing to a higher gear it indicates that your bearings are loose. Drop the lower half of the crank case and see that all bearings are properly adjusted.

What is an airless tire? Is it made of solid rubber and does it reduce speed as solid tires do?

An airless tire is one that is not pneumatic. The average airless tire is made up of a solid tread, having on the interior a cellular structure supposed to be as resilient as a pneumatic tire and may be applied to the same rims, usually as the pneumatic tire is applied to.

What is considered the most efficient valve timing of a gas engine?

There is no such thing as the most efficient timing on a gas engine. The ideal timing for any two motors will not be the same. The reason for this is that the manifolds, piston displacement and various other factors have a marked influence on the proper timing.

When the insulated electrode on a make and break ignition system becomes short circuited, how can a satisfactory repair be made? What is used for insulation, and where can one obtain it?

The most satisfactory repair for this consists in replacing the insulated electrode. New electrodes generally may be obtained from the manufacturer of the motor or an agent thereof.

Long Winded Talkers Are About "Talked Out"—Public Men Ask Each Other, What Is the Difference Between "Peace Without Victory" and "Peace Without Conquest?"

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, Aug. 8.—[Special.]—There is talk about the adjournment of congress early in September, by the middle of September at the outside. The senate begins to figure that not more than two or three weeks will be taken up in discussion of the revenue bill, and meanwhile other important legislation can be sandwiched in and passed.

Of course it is simply a question of how much talk senators indulge in during the consideration of the bills that remain to be passed which are necessary to carry on the war. If they talk a long time the bills will be delayed, but there is reason to believe that most of the long winded speakers are about "talked out."

It is interesting to note that the talk of getting through in September began when the hot spell came.

Is There a Difference?

Senators, representatives, prominent public men and men in the army and navy have been asking each other whether there is much difference between "peace without victory" and "peace without conquest." The first phrase was made famous by President Wilson in his address to the waring nations of the world delivered in the senate last January. The last came from Austria and indicated that the central powers might be willing to talk terms of peace without any territorial conquest.

Attitude of the United States.

It yet remains to be seen whether the attitude of the United States will remain unchanged in regard to dealing with Germany. From the time of our entry into the war down to the latest utterance of Secretary Lansing the dominant idea seems to be that this government is determined to do away with the governing power in Germany and to "liberate the German people."

Of course there is some doubt whether the German people want to be "liberated" or not. The indications have been that they are pretty well satisfied with their government. However, it is a good guess that the continuation of the war will not be approved on the part of our people upon any lines looking to great territorial acquisition by any of the powers that are engaged in the war.

The main contentions which our government will make is for the future liberation of the world and its commerce, with the probable decree that international law must hereafter be observed.

One Senator's View.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, a member of the committee on foreign relations, has this to say of peace talk: "It is no way to talk about peace by saying what you will take and what you won't take. The way to do is to go ahead and whip 'em and then talk of terms."

A Sudden Collapse.

It is rather surprising that the opposition to the rivers and harbors bill collapsed so suddenly in the senate. At one time it looked as if a band of some twenty or more senators would talk the bill to death or at least force those who wanted the bill passed to use the new cloture rule. There have been fights made on the rivers and harbors bills in the senate which defeated them and at other times caused a material amount of modification. That was not the case this year. After a few vigorous speeches full of denunciation and criticism there was an end to the opposition, and the bill passed.

Like Many Other Good Remedies.

From the time the White House picketing began in the interests of woman suffrage several good remedies for it have been suggested. One was to the effect that if the newspapers of the country ceased to make any mention of the picketing we would see the end of it. "Cut out the publicity," said quite a number of people, "and that will end the picketing."

That would be all right if it could be done, but you can't cut out the publicity. Like remedies for many other things, it could not be utilized.

A Big Improvement.

While it is no doubt true that the stringent orders relating to furnishing liquor to men in uniform has caused some inconvenience to quite a number of men, it is a fact that the conditions now compared with those nineteen years ago during the Spanish war are much different. It was no uncommon sight then to see a lot of young men in uniform drunk and carousing on the streets. From the time the United States began preparation for this war it is doubtful whether a man in uniform has been seen under the influence of liquor in the streets of Washington.

Whether it is for good or not, there is no doubt that wonderful strides in curtailing the use of liquor have taken place since the great war began.

READY TO FIGHT FOR U. S.

Polish Federation of America Offers 300,000 Aliens.

Milwaukee, Aug. 9.—Uncle Sam's armies will be augmented by 300,000 Poles and other aliens if the Polish Federation of America is granted permission to raise the force of such armies.

A resolution was telegraphed President Wilson asking permission. It contains the following sentence: "The Prussian government should remember that every wrong breeds an avenger."

SEND TROOPS TO RUSSIA

Hinted Americans May Fight on Eastern Front.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Predictions that the next American troops to go abroad will be sent to strengthen the Russian lines was made in the senate by Senator Lewis of Illinois.

"The next legions of our men to go forth," he said, "will be to Russia to support the loyal Russian armies now fighting under the principles of our making."

NEW GERMAN CABINET MEM-BER EX-CONVICT.

Berlin, Aug. 9.—Dr. August Mueller, Social Democrat of Hamburg, who has been appointed under secretary of the war food bureau, during his early career as Socialist editor had an entertaining encounter with the police. In 1899 he was sentenced to four years' imprisonment for lese majeste and served two and a half months when he obtained a new hearing and was acquitted.

Ousted for Egg Gambling.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Charged with gambling the Morgan-Kuhn company has been ousted from the butter and egg board. In an affidavit fighting a suit brought for delivery of five cars of eggs the firm is said to have sworn the sale was purely a gambling proposition and it had no intention of making the delivery.

What is Anuric?

The New Discovery for Kidneys, Rheumatism and Backache.

Send 10 cents with name of this paper to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., for a large sample package of Anuric. It will convince any one suffering from kidneys, bladder, backache, that it is many times more active than lithia, and dissolves uric acid in the system as hot water melts sugar; besides being absolutely harmless, it preserves the kidneys in a healthy state by thoroughly cleansing them. Anuric sweeps from the blood the uric acid which causes rheumatism, gout, sciatica. Anuric is an insurance agent against sudden death. Send to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for free book on Diseases of Kidneys.

St. Paul, Minn.—"For years I have suffered from disordered kidneys. My back ached terribly, also my head. I let it run on until just lately when I read in the papers of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets, and having known of Dr. Pierce and some of his medicines I decided to try out Anuric. I have now taken but one box but have been greatly benefited by it. Of course, I couldn't expect one box to cure me, but know that the Anuric will cure me from the effects of the first box, as already my backache has almost entirely disappeared. I certainly advise everyone suffering as I did to take Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets."—Mrs. F. E. MARSHALL, 1007 Gaultier St.

St. Paul, Minn.—"I am taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with the best of results. A few months ago I suffered with dizzy spells and woman's trouble. I studied up my case in the 'Medical Adviser' and decided to try the 'Favorite Prescription.' It gave me immediate relief and has strengthened and toned up my entire system. I can't say enough in praise of this medicine."—Mrs. NICK SMITH, 230 Granite Street.
